

BODEGA PABLO FALLABRINO

Anarkia

Region

Part of the larger Canelones regions, Atlántida nestles between Montevideo city and the Atlantic region of Maldonado on the coast. This small region leans more towards the coastal breezes and cooler temperatures of Maldonado than the humidity and heavy soils of Canelones. It supports a mix of red and white varieties, largely produced by smaller family-run wineries.

Producer

The property has been in the Fallabrino family since 1947; winemaker Pablo Fallabrino produces quality-driven wines in small quantities utilising a modern winery but at the same time continues to explore forgotten, old or less known winemaking techniques. He has a soft spot for Italian varieties, innovation and quirkiness; a true artisan, a rebel with a fine hand, and deep understanding of wine. His vineyards are located where the River Plate estuary and the Atlantic Ocean meet, providing clean cool ocean breezes and an ideal climate for the maturation of fine wine grapes.

Viticulture

Using no insecticide and dry no-till farming, the family practices sustainable farming and minimal intervention viticulture. The grapes are hand harvested.

Vinification

Grapes are handpicked from sustainably farmed (soon to be certified organic) vineyards. Fermentation using indigenous yeasts over 7 days at 30-35°C with several pump-overs. The wine is then aged for 9 months below 0°C to ensure stabilisation and some racking is done during this period. This is followed by a light filtration before bottling in the summer.

Tasting Note

Deep purple colour, black olive and dark berry fruits with a muscular tannic structure and fresh acidity.

Food Matching

Ideal for dishes with red meats, game and casseroles.
