

BODEGAS VERUM

Verum Parcela Tamarisco Pinot Noir

Region

The most southerly wine region in South America, Rio Negro runs along the river of the same name. It's a small region, with only 1,600 hectares under vine, but vines have been grown here since the 1800's. The altitude (at 250 m.a.s.l.) is low by Argentine standards but due to latitude, the region still enjoys the wide diurnal temperature variation that gives a long growing season. Alluvial soils, with a significant limestone component, support production of excellent cool-climate Pinot Noir and promising old-vine Malbec.

Producer

Situated in Patagonia, Argentina's southernmost winemaking region, is a valley surrounded by windy, deserted lands and irrigated by water flowing from the Andes. Alto Valle de Río Negro, the source of Patagonia's biggest river, is the South American home of Bodegas Verum – a partnership between the Del Río Elorza boutique winery and winemaker, Elías López Montero. This exceptional terroir produces wines that display a distinct homage to Burgundy – benefitting from the same cooler temperatures and consequent long, slow maturation as that area of France. Expect elegant expressions of pure, delicate fruit from this avant-garde project focused on making the most of varieties adapted to the unique Patagonian conditions.

Viticulture

The vineyard is 18 years old with a density of 5,500 plants per hectare. The soils are clay loam with a high iron content. The training system is unilateral cord and guyot. The yield of 8,000 kilos per hectare is hand harvested.

Vinification

Fermentation was carried out with 30% whole bunches. Spontaneous fermentation with indigenous yeasts. Complete malolactic fermentation.

Tasting Note

A nose of wild raspberries and subtle woodsmoke. The palate is clean and refreshing with smoky notes, red- and purple-skinned fruits and just a touch of earth.

Food Matching

Being on the more mid-weight side of Pinot, and with lovely expressions of red and purple fruits, this would work particularly well with duck and mild game dishes.
